DISCUSSION

A list of installed applications may be useful to Support technicians to determine if there may be any conflicts or missing components. The attached VBScript file can be run on the server computer, where it will create a text file containing a list of all installed applications. That text file will be created in the directory the script is in when you run it.

Download the attached TXT file, rename it with a VBS extension, and then double-click it to run. When complete, it will give you the name of the output file and prompt you to open it for review.
